

CONKLING REFUSES TO RESIGN OFFICE TO AID DEMOCRATS

Colonel McCarthy Will Not Be Allowed To Make Wholesale Dismissals

HE QUILTS MUNICIPAL JOB AND IS BLOCKED

Mafford H. Drummond Succeeds Politician As Treasurer of City of Honolulu

In the brief span of a few hours yesterday, an entirely new aspect was given the possibility of Col. Charles J. McCarthy assuming the office of territorial treasurer at any particularly early date. He had arranged to move into the capitol at noon tomorrow, but this is not to be, as Territorial Treasurer D. L. Conkling refuses to resign until he is assured that the office will not be subjected to political abuse.

Within the same span of time Colonel McCarthy burned his bridges so to speak, by offering his resignation as city treasurer to the board of supervisors, which promptly accepted it. These are two of several important developments in the Conkling-McCarthy situation, which promises to generate into something of vast political importance in the Territory within the next few days.

Developments Summarized

The developments yesterday may be summarized in this way:

D. Lloyd Conkling, territorial treasurer and candidate for city treasurer, has refused to resign his territorial position until he is given proper assurance that the office will not be prostituted for political gain in these last days before election. His position as a candidate for a county office is not invalidated because he is a territorial office holder, and he could, if he wished, hold his present office until he becomes city treasurer.

Colonel McCarthy's resignation as city treasurer was accepted by the board of supervisors yesterday and his deputy, Mafford H. Drummond, was appointed his successor, for the remaining two months of the term. Governor Pinkham, while admitting that Mr. Conkling has refused to resign, refrains from saying what he will or will not do to the matter, but gives the impression that a conference will be held today.

The members of the board of supervisors, while extolling McCarthy in public speeches, fling animadversions at him privately for "putting them in a hole" in his late warrant-withholding scheme.

McCarthy Out of a Job

Thus, as the situation remains as this is written, Colonel McCarthy will not take office Saturday at noon, as he announced he would, nor will the clean sweep of everybody at present connected with the territorial treasurer's department be made at that time. Possibly it will never be made. McCarthy, himself, is now out of a job.

Indignant that Colonel McCarthy plans to throw out of employment everybody, high and low, of long and short service in the department, Conkling has refused to resign until he is given assurance that such a vicious scheme is not to be carried out.

McCarthy has not only cut his bridges as far as his municipal position is concerned, but he has made promises of positions to scores of persons over the islands. There are between 250 and 300 positions directly or indirectly in the gift of the territorial treasurer, and these he has agreed to pass out to disgruntled Democrats with a lavish hand, provided they hustle on election day for Lank McCandless.

Scheme Was Election Bait

This gift of jobs was all planned out as an election day coup, and upon it rested the hopes of the Democrats for their many factions to be smoothed over. Palmer Woods, it is understood, was to be made marriage license commissioner here; A. V. Ocar was to take Henry C. Hapala's place as deputy treasurer and registrar of public accounts; and numerous other Democrats had had some job or other, in the way of a job, offered to them.

The rear that doubtless will go up when Saturday dawns and McCarthy fails to take office will be heard, figuratively at least, from one end of the islands to the other from the jobs-in-the-promise men.

On the other hand, citizens who have the best interests of the Territory at heart are applauding heartily the position taken by Conkling. Rather than see the office abused for political purposes, he has taken the position that his duty as a citizen is to retain his present office until McCarthy shows that he intends to act in good faith to efficient and departmental employees in taking over the post.

Conkling Will Be Elected

Conkling himself was the successful Republican candidate for the position of city treasurer in the primary, and he doubtless will be elected, judging from the heavy vote he polled in both districts, at the general election Tuesday. He has carried on his campaign making hardly any personal canvass, indeed, he was not in the Territory during the primary campaign, being in Washington and New York the entire time on official business.

Conkling planned to devote the time between Saturday and election day to a strenuous campaign for his election, but since he learned of the plot about to be carried out with McCarthy's induction into office, he has abandoned his campaign program altogether, convinced that his duty to the public lies

NEW WAR-TAX ACT WILL AFFECT BANKS

Bank of Hawaii Manager Gets News As To Bearing On Finances

A. Lewis, Jr., manager of the Bank of Hawaii, said yesterday that among the provisions in the war revenue tax measure recently enacted by Congress, appear the following which will affect the banks in the transaction of business:

"Bankers, one dollar per thousand of capital, surplus and undivided profits. Bonds, certificates of indebtedness and certificates of stock, five cents on each $100 of value; sales, agreements to sell, etc., two cents on each $100 of value (excluding agreements of deposit on stock certificates as collateral for loans); agreements to sell, one cent for each $100 of value; promissory notes, two cents per $1000; indemnifying bonds, fifty cents; all other certificates required by law, ten cents each; conveyances, fifty cents on values between $100 and $500, and fifty cents for each additional $500 of value."

"Marine and fire insurance policies, one cent on each dollar of premium, co-operative and mutual fire insurance exempted."

"Power of attorney, ten cents; proceeds of notes, etc., twenty-five cents."

"Maximum estimate of annual revenue, $107,000,000; minimum estimate, based on possible slump in beer production, $92,000,000."

Advise have not been received as to the date these provisions are effective under the law; such advice should be received during the course of a week, he said.

JUDGE DOLE HEARS WHITE SLAVE CASE

Julian Rondon, charged with a violation of the White Slave Traffic Act, was on trial in the federal court yesterday before Judge Dole and a jury. The taking of testimony was closed at noon, and the case will appear in court again tomorrow at 10 o'clock this morning.

The witnesses for the prosecution, whom M. A. Thomas, district attorney, called to the stand, were Angela Santiago, the woman in the case; a detective, J. R. Kellett, Francisco Ricardo and H. M. Tucker, and for the defense the witnesses were Julian Rondon and Thomas Broadway. The jury is made up as follows:

Willard E. Grace, George W. Clark, George A. Martin, H. B. Weller, George G. Guild, H. A. Weaver, W. K. Buchanan, R. C. Seale, Charles Duncan, Charles Spencer, Joseph M. Irvine and John Waterhouse. Two jurors, John D. Holt Jr. and Henry E. Abbey, were excused by the government.

In his staying at the office and thwarting the spoils plan of the Democrats, Governor Pinkham is a diplomat.

Governor Pinkham talked guardedly of this yesterday. He intimated that a conference would be held today, and that at the conference will appear Conkling and McCarthy, the chief executive to act in the role of "ixer." At this conference an agreement may be reached and Conkling may step out of office at once. So long as he is assured that the office is not to be disgraced by wholesale discharges of present employees, he is willing to step out.

McCarthy was promised the territorial cabinet job in the early spring, the actual appointment to be made so that he could take office October 1. Conkling did not return from Washington in time for the Governor to make the appointment at that time, so the date was informally put over until November 1.

In the meantime, the campaign opened up. McCarthy didn't try for reelection. Conkling became a candidate for McCarthy's place—and since that time it has looked as though they were going to trade places.

The first indication that Conkling gave that he was not pleased with the revolutionary plans of his proposed successor, and other plans, was after the Advertiser had published an account of the city treasurer's warrant-withholding enterprise.

Conkling Attacks Plundering

In connection with this article, Conkling pointed out that McCarthy was allowing the supervisors to run themselves in a bare financial hole, and that he (McCarthy) planned to get them out of it when he became territorial treasurer. He would get them out of it by advancing the city a big part of its tax money, not actually payable for some weeks yet, but which the supervisors must have to meet their campaign bills.

When the board of supervisors met yesterday, the following letter from McCarthy, addressed to the mayor, was read:

"Dear Sir: I hereby tender you my resignation as treasurer of the City and County of Honolulu, to take effect October 30 next, for the reason that I am to assume the office of territorial treasurer on that date."

"With the kindest considerations for yourself and hoping that your next administration will be as successful as the one about to expire, I beg to remain, yours respectfully,"

"C. J. MCCARTHY,"

"Treasurer of the City and County of Honolulu."

In accepting his resignation, the board agreed to pass a resolution expressing their appreciation of the treasurer's services, the resolution to be presented by supervisors Petrie, McClellan and Pacheco.

Mayor Fern made his appointment of Drummond at once, and it was confirmed without dissent. The unexpected turn which Drummond is appointed to fill covers two months.

HONOLULU SECURES MORE GUARDSMEN

Tenth Local Company Will Be Composed of American-Born Chinese

National Guard authorities have been offered definitely another company in Honolulu to be composed of seventy-eight American-born Chinese. Active work of recruiting is underway, and the militiamen will be uniformed and equipped at the earliest possible moment.

At the present time the men will be recruited by one of the recruiting officers of the First Infantry, and officers of the company will be designated later on, in all probability the new officers being taken from some of the non-commissioned officers of the present companies, such non-commissioned officers being given a chance to take the examination prescribed for officers before the board of examiners. The formation of the company is in line with the policy of the war department to have a twelve-company organization in Honolulu. There are now nine companies in Honolulu, and this will make the tenth, making the total strength in the entire territory, thirteen companies, with the necessary sanitary troops.

The first infantry requires a band and some action is being taken with a view to the formation of such an organization.

A new roller door is being installed at the rear of the armory, and an inclined drive-way into the basement of the armory is being put in by Superintendent of Public Works Forbes, who is doing all in his power to help the guard along.

SUPERVISORS STORMED BY IWILEI HACKMEN

Iwilei's foremost hack drivers, with Bob Levi as their spokesman, gave a touch of color to a meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday, when they appeared before that body with chips on their respective shoulders. They talked in loud and subdued voices, and spoke of graft and unfair play. They demanded that something be done and that certain wrongs be righted in Iwilei. One or two of the supervisors listened, but the others, who knew they were going to be defeated at election Tuesday anyway, turned deaf ears.

Must Pay for Privileges

According to complainants, only a select few of the hack drivers are allowed to "make a stand" down the main highway. It is a kind of close corporation, outsiders not wanted. They declared that some of the drivers are obliged to pay two dollars and a half a day to hold a place by the curb in front of one of the stores in Iwilei, the money being paid to the merchants running the store.

Though Bob Levi and most of his company of hack drivers are Democrats, Supervisor John Markham, former chairman of the police committee, was not inclined to take their statements at face value.

Statements Not Correct

"I made an investigation when they complained once before," he said, "and found that their statements were not correct."

Other supervisors seemed to feel the same way, but they did not say anything, recognizing in Bob Levi a political power, limited to be sure, but still enough of a power to swing a handful of needed votes.

MRS. YOUNG'S ESTATE VALUED AT $511,003

A petition for probate of the will of the late Mrs. Alexander (Ruth) Young, was filed in the circuit court yesterday by Archibald A. Young and will be heard by Judge Whitney December 4. Mrs. Young died in Honolulu, October 17, aged seventy-three years.

The deceased left no real estate in the Territory. The petition states that the estate consists of cash in bank, $11,005.74; personal effects, $500, and $501 shares of the Alexander Young Estate, Limited, par value $550,000, a total value of $511,003.74.

The nine children who survive Mrs. Young are Alexander Young and Agnes Dredge of Oakland; Susan A. wife of Dr. R. W. Anderson, Honolulu; Robert A. Young, Five Miles, Volcano road; Mary E. wife of Dr. Joseph L. Howard of San Francisco; Bertha Ruth Young, Archibald A. Young, Bernice I. wife of C. G. von Hamm of Honolulu, and May A. wife of Dr. Thomas R. McNab of Los Angeles, California.

NEW CONSUL REPRESENTS AUSTRIA-HUNGARY HERE

Herman P. F. Schultze of 1118 Hasinger street, treasurer of H. Hackfeld & Co., has been appointed consul for Austria-Hungary and will present his credentials this morning to Governor Pinkham, by whom he will be received in the usual official way. The Governor, accompanied by W. W. Thayer, secretary of the Territory, will return the formal call later in the day.

Consul Schultze succeeds F. A. Schaefer, who has been acting consul for Austria-Hungary for many years. Mr. Schaefer is consul for Italy and dean of the local diplomatic corps.

While no statement was given out yesterday, it was intimated that Mr. Schaefer asked to be relieved of the position of acting consul for Austria-Hungary and that he soon will relinquish the honors of consul for Italy.

SUPERVISORS DEFY PUBLIC SENTIMENT AGAINST M'CARTHY

After Long Secret Conference They Decide To Stand By City Treasurer

PRE-ELECTION SCANDAL GROWS IN PROPORTIONS

Tradesmen Are Clamoring For Money On Warrants Diverted To Buy Votes

ELEVENTH-HOUR SCHEME

Spurge every cent from now until election day on laborers. Denounce the newspapers from the stump.

Stand by City Treasurer McCarthy in his present embarrassment, publicly, even though criticizing him privately.

Authorize City Engineer Wall to increase the number of "laborers" on public roads where possible, between now and Tuesday, and pass word among the laborers and lunks that if they vote "right" they will not be "canned" November 3.

Right honorable members of the board of supervisors held their final caucus before election yesterday noon, in the inner and tobacco-scented sanctum of Mayor J. J. Fern.

With only four more days ahead of them before election, the supervisors called a caucus to line up together on certain tactics to be adhered to from now until election, policies to govern, and attitudes to strike in these sunset days of the campaign.

Above is given a summary of the agreements reached at this secret caucus. There must have been a dispute on some of the points, for the conference lasted quite a long time, and delayed the meeting of the board more than half an hour.

McCarthy 'Puts Them In Bad'

The dispute was likely on the question of the position to take with regard to City Treasurer McCarthy. He has put the supervisors in an embarrassing position and on defensive by directing the auditor to hold up warrants to tradesmen.

This McCarthy did, he explained, so that he would have enough money on hand to pay the "laborers." If the tradesmen's warrants did not come in, he would have enough cash on hand to meet Saturday's pay day. For that reason he ordered the auditor to hold up the warrants.

Several of the supervisors took the position that the treasurer should have a want of foresight in not borrowing money from the banks, and that he should be criticized for embarrassing them and injuring their reelection chances at this time.

Public Support; Private Criticism

But the conference evidently ended in the decision that McCarthy should be supported publicly, though blamed privately among themselves as Democrats. This inference is drawn from the fact that when the board met, the treasurer's resignation was read, Supervisors McClellan and Pacheco rose to defend him, and ask that a resolution of appreciation of his services be passed and presented to him.

Mayor Fern named a committee to invite and present the resolution at the next meeting. On this committee he named Supervisors McClellan, Pacheco and Petrie.

Pacheco Enlists McCarthy

Pacheco spoke at length on the administration of McCarthy, and regretted the criticism that had been made of him in the last few days.

They are exceedingly frank in the municipal building in giving McCarthy's reason for having the warrants held up. It was a political move totally. He wanted to have enough money on hand to pay the swollen road labor payroll. If the laborers' warrants were registered, McCarthy and the supervisors would get "in bad" with the men whom they have employed merely for the votes they represent.

Tradesmen Are Indignant

McCarthy had about $27,000 on hand. It would cover the payroll, provided tradesmen did not come in with their warrants. So he asked the auditor to hold up the tradesmen's warrants, and this was being done until The Advertiser revealed the situation.

Since then tradesmen, indignant, have come to the auditor and demanded their warrants. These the treasurer has been forced to register as they are presented.

In the guardianship matter of Laola Evelyn and Marjorie M. Booth, minors, the petition of the guardian to execute an additional charge of $2500 against the estate of the wards was granted yesterday by Judge Whitney.

SOLDIERS ARE RUN DOWN BY AN AUTO

Both Sustain Serious Injuries, One Receiving Compound Fracture of Skull

Louis Heinicke and Mike Monihan, enlisted men in Company D, Second Infantry, were run down, seriously injured and then left in the road, after being struck by an automobile at two o'clock yesterday morning at King street and Gulick avenue.

Monihan is at the Fort Shafter hospital with a compound fracture of the skull, and little hope was given out last night for his recovery.

Heinicke, who is in the same institution, is suffering from a badly fractured left leg and internal injuries.

Heinicke told Motorcycle Officer Perry yesterday afternoon that he and Monihan were walking along on the right side of King street, when, without any warning, an automobile, traveling at a high rate of speed, struck them from the rear. They were both hurled several feet in the air and landed in the middle of the street some distance from where they were hit.

Heinicke said that he, as well as his companion, was unconscious for some time after being struck. The automobile continued on its way.

John Keppel, driver of a hack, heard the injured men groaning as he was passing some time later and conveyed the two men to the Fort Shafter hospital.

Owing to the fact that the Fort Shafter authorities did not report the case to the police station until noon yesterday, it has made it difficult for Officer Perry to apprehend the occupants of the machine.

"Had we been notified earlier in the day," said Perry, "we probably could have had this reckless and inhuman driver under arrest by this time. As it is, he has nearly twenty-four hours the start of us to cover his tracks."
